- The first day of the new month is determined by the sightings of the new moon. Projections of this are gathered from moongiant.com and based on visibility that is able to be seen by the naked eye. If the new moon is sighted and it is contradictory to this calendar, sighting of the new moon with the naked eye takes precedence over this calendar. It is your responsibility to sight the new moon to make sure what you are following is accurate. To find if others have sighted the moon or when it was sighted in Israel, go to renewedmoon.com.
- Feasts are in agreement to Leviticus 23.
- Optional Jewish holidays are not on this calendar, such as Purim & Hanukkah. You are encouraged to note those yourself and celebrate as Yeshua directs you in your personal walk with God.
- Days begin and end with sunset.
- Gregorian calendar days are noted on:
 - The first day of the week.
 - Feast days.
 - Beginning and end of each Gregorian month.
 - Beginning and end of each Hebrew Month.
- You may find double of some of the months based on projected visibility of the moon. Once the moon is sighted throw out the version that is incorrect.

*Make sure you are praying, doing your own research, and have adequate fellowship, to direct your path to align with The Creator of the universe.
